PITTSBURGS WIN.

CORBETT IMPLORES WIFE TO JOIN HIM.

She Calls His Loving Telegram Absurd and Declares that She Will Not Forgive Him.

Vera Corbett, Toby's saloon, Thirty-first street and Broadway, N. Y.

Sept. 18, 1900.

The above cablegram was received by Mrs. James J. Corbett to-day. It aroused her ire and she hurried at once to her lawyers, Howe & Hummel.

Mrs. Corbett was seen there by an Evening World reporter, to whom she unbosomed herself. She said:

"George Considine, Mr. Corbett's manager and his companion on his trip to Europe, is quoted as having said: 'Jim will be pleased if his wife does also. Everybody knows her sort. When Jim left the room in which Mrs. Corbett was, on his way to the fight with McCoy, his wife screamed after him: 'I hope he hits you in the head and kills you.'"

"Surely Mr. Corbett's cable message to me is, to say the least, slightly inconsistent with Considine's assurance that Jim will be pleased if I sue, or why should he cable me in the endearing manner expressed in his cable message?"

HER VERIFICATION.

"Considine's statement as to my remark when Corbett left is also to say the least very questionable, and it more than verifies what I have said, that before Mr. Corbett left for the fight he had a last interview with Eddie Burke, at which Mr. Considine was present, and at which the final arrangement of the conspiracy to rob the public was culminated."

"My counsel, Mr. Hummel, has in his possession the vouchers of checks which tell the story of the amount deposited by Mr. Corbett to fulfill his promise of the yearning, and when the proper time arrives this entire villainy will be amply proven."

"When I married Mr. Corbett I did so to avoid the notoriety which he, himself, has brought about, and our understanding was that I should leave him if he ever met with defeat. Since then he has suffered defeat from Fitzsimmons, Sharkey and Jeffries, notwithstanding which I remained with him, suffering all sorts of ill-treatment and abuse."

"He excused that he left America and that his departure was known to me in a par with his other statements. It is absolutely untrue. Why he should have engaged his passage on a European steamer under the assumed name of 'Martin,' and paid for the passage of another woman under the same name, both sailing under the same aliases, is beyond my comprehension, unless it was for ulterior motives."

NEVER FORGIVE HIM.

"His entreaties now, that he will prove me his love, make him all the smaller in my eyes. I have only contempt for him, and I will never forgive him."

"It was only recently I learned that he retained an attorney by the name of Hoffman to employ private detectives, who shadowed me during the past two months. This was done with a view that I, without his knowing it, should take no legal steps to attach the receipts of the fight and the moneys he received for his share of the betting, which was made a surety by McCoy's willing assent to 'lay down' in the fight."

"Mr. Corbett undoubtedly felt I would take some action to protect myself and hurriedly left this country to avoid personal service of papers on him. I am assured, however, by Mr. Hummel, that the New York courts will protect me in my conjugal rights, and that any transfer of his property with a view to defrauding me of my rights will not hold good."

"His cable message is absurd. I have not answered it and will not consent to enter into any further parley with him. I purposely did all I could to prevent his knowing my whereabouts, knowing he had sent additional messages to Mr. Toby to be sure to find me and get me to withdraw my divorce suit, but I propose to have nothing more to do with Mr. Corbett and have the fullest confidence I will succeed in my suit against him."

THE PRESIDENT BACK.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—President McKinley arrived here early to-day and immediately took up the Chinese question. He will return to Canton Friday night.

MRS. JAMES J. CORBETT.

LOVER AND FATHER IN FATAL GUN DUEL.

Baldwin Put a Load of Buckshot Into Thomas Doyle and Was Shot Himself.

Angered because his employer refused to let his daughter marry him, Thomas Doyle, of this city, shot and fatally wounded Horace Baldwin, a wealthy truck farmer, of Hilton, N. J., late last night. Baldwin also shot Doyle. Both will die. Doyle fired one shot at his sweetheart, but missed her.

Doyle worked for Baldwin this summer and courted Grace Baldwin, the pretty twenty-year-old daughter of Baldwin. The two became engaged without Baldwin's knowledge.

When he learned of the engagement Saturday Baldwin was furious. He ordered Doyle from the place.

Doyle departed threatening to kill the whole family. He returned yesterday and saw his sweetheart. She gave him back his ring and said she would obey her father.

Mrs. Baldwin went to the house door about 5 o'clock last evening when Doyle again called. He demanded to see Baldwin, shouting that he would kill him.

Baldwin appeared with a shotgun and emptied one barrel into Doyle's body as he stood on the steps. Doyle fell.

The wounded man rose suddenly and shot Baldwin four times. He also fired one shot at the girl who had come to the door.

Doyle then ran half a mile and boarded a Newark car. He was found unconscious at Market and Broad streets at 1:15 this morning.

He is lying in the Newark Hospital.

NEITHERSOL FINED.

Actress Had to Pay $10 in London To-day for Importing Dogs Without Licenses.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—O. G. Neithersole, the actress, was fined $2 ($10) to-day for allowing two dogs to be imported from the United States without licenses.

PINKERTON DENIES IT

No Armed Detectives of His Agency Sent to the Coal Regions. He Declares.

The following letter was received by The Evening World this afternoon:

It is stated in The World of this morning, in a despatch from Shamokin, that one United States Pinkerton detective, heavily armed, arrived at Shamokin on special train.

GREAT MINERS' STRIKE GROWS HOUR BY HOUR.

126,000 MEN OUT, LEADERS SAY; NO SETTLEMENT IN PROSPECT.

A LOCAL OBJECT LESSON OF MINERS' STRIKE—WHAT IT ALREADY MEANS HERE IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18, 1900.

Dear Sir: We have received your order for five or six tons of high stove coal. WE REGRET EXCEEDINGLY THAT WE CAN ONLY ACCEPT TWO TONS OF THIS ORDER and have laid it aside for delivery as soon as possible at $5.50 per ton on the walk; labor of housing additional.

WE ARE COMPELLED BY THE FORCE OF CIRCUMSTANCES CAUSED BY THE MINERS' STRIKE TO SCALE DOWN ORDERS not already accepted to this limit. For, while we do not anticipate a long strike, yet we are compelled by prudence not to obligate ourselves for the future.

At the same time, WHEN THE STRIKE IS OVER THE PRICE WILL REcede UNDOUBTEDLY, and it will therefore be better for the customers not to have bought too much of the commodity at a high price. We shall hope on future orders to give you all you may desire. Yours truly, etc.

The above letter was actually received this morning by a citizen of New York from one of the largest retail coal firms in the city. If only two tons of an order for half a dozen can be delivered by such a firm, with the strike less than a week old, and the price advanced to $5.50 a ton, the distress among the poor, with winter coming on, will soon be extreme. New Yorkers thus have the effects of the strike brought right home to them.

MITCHELL DECLARES 126,000 MEN ARE IDLE.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 19.

"Most encouraging reports have been received from the Hazleton and Schuylkill districts. The most gratifying report was that 2,300 employees of the Philadelphia and Reading Company, at Mahanoy City and vicinity, decided to strike. This is the first break of any magnitude among the employees of the Reading Company."

"As we predicted at the beginning of this contest, the miners have in no instance violated the law, and are all conducting themselves quietly, with a determination to continue the contest until their eminently just demands have been acceded to. There are 126,000 men now out."—PRESIDENT MITCHELL.

TELL PEOPLE THE TRUTH.

(By John J. Pallas, President of the Actors' Union and Business Agent of the Pattern-Makers' Union.)

I was born and reared in Scranton. As a boy I worked in the mines. I returned ten days ago from a visit there. I know the whole shameful story of the mines. Miss Olivia Howard Dunbar's pictures, published in The Evening World, of the misery and debasement of the mine-workers and their families are not overdrawn. Indeed, I do not think she has found the worst cases. I am glad The Evening World sent a fearless, faithful woman there. Let the people know the truth, though it may make every true American blush for shame.

WE FACE A CRISIS IN CHINA TROUBLE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The German note demanding the punishment of the Chinese officials responsible for the outrages at Peking as a condition precedent to peace negotiations has brought the Chinese trouble to an acute crisis as far as the United States Government is concerned.

It is the belief in official circles that the Chinese Government cannot accept the German proposition, so that it is now for the United States Government either to withdraw its forces from China immediately, or to join Germany and England, and perhaps some other of the allied powers, in a prolonged war with China.

Baron von Sternberg, the German Charge, called early at the State Department to-day to explain some points of the German note.

Mr. Wu, the Chinese Minister, had preceded him, showing visible signs of nervousness and disquiet over his last move.

Bands of McAdoo Miners March to Coleraine, Where Colliery is Crimped—Coal Roads at a Standstill—First Blow at Reading Company To-day, When 2,500 Men Quit Work—Situation is Growing More Serious.

Another article by Miss Olivia Howard Dunbar, of The Evening World, describing the women warriors of the strike, appears on page 2 of to-day's issue. All who wish to understand the causes of the coal strike should read this series of articles. Miss Dunbar is the only woman correspondent actually on the field studying one of the greatest labor wars of the century.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, after getting partial reports at Hazleton from his lieutenants to-day, made the statement that 126,000 out of the 141,000 mine workers at the anthracite fields are idle to-day.

All of the strike leaders say they are confident that every mine will be tied up tight before the end of the week and the production of coal will be at a standstill.

Marching, the form of persuasion used by the Hazleton strikers in 1897, began in earnest to-day in the Hazleton region. A determined band of strikers from McAdoo went to several mine settlements before daybreak and induced several hundred men not to go to work.

It was this marching from mine to mine day after day in an effort to stop men from work, that culminated in the awful massacre by sheriff's deputies three years ago.

Calvin Pardee, one of the most influential mine owners in the Hazleton region, gave out an interview to-day full of defiance, in which he declared that the operators will never yield to the demands of the strikers, and that it is a fight to the finish.

What is likely to become a serious feature of the situation is the stoppage of coal traffic and the consequent laying off of coal train crews.

Carrying coal is almost at a standstill in the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions and many hundreds of railroaders are idle. These men are likely to take action designed to force the strike to a quick conclusion.

Even the Reading Company, which has more coal for sale than any other company, is feeling the effects of the strike and is shipping less coal to-day.

ARMED AT THE MINES.

Strikers Keeping Watch on the Collieries—An Operator in Edgely.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19.—The tie-up among the mines of this section of the anthracite region was made complete to-day when 800 non-union miners of the Pennsylvania Coal Company refused to enter the works.

When the operators of the Rendam mines arrived at the colliery they found suspended over the street in the heart of that mining town a figure of a mine-owner hanged in effigy.
